Bumper Crowds Ate Drank, Were Merry At Co-op Barbecue

By Doris Mednick

Delightful weather, delicious food, and a diversified recreational program added up to a highly successful Co-op barbecue on Sunday at the Greenbelt lake. Nearly 1,000 people enjoyed the results of the remarkable cooperation between the planning committee, Greenbelt's maintenance department, GCS's staff, and countless other individuals.

With James Smith 4-H Southway, Barbecueur extraordinaire, watching through the night as the red-hot coals, lying in the specially-prepared pits, slowly roasted the three 100-lb. pigs, Carnie Harper assisting at the shredding of 125 pounds of cabbage for cole slaw, Pappy Sines of the maintenance department securing the 3 cords of wood required for the barbecuing, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Planck cutting up the 18 chickens and 36 pounds of prime beef for the Kentucky "burgoo" pot, Ellen Linson, Charlotte Schubert and Eben Jenkins calling the square dances with the resounding "wahoos", it would be difficult to estimate whose unstinting labor and generous spirit was responsible. Rather, it was in the manner of a truly cooperative enterprise, with everyone working tirelessly and with enthusiasm.

The ticket sale, supervised by Bob Broadbent, had allowed for 500 diners the Friday before the barbecue, and when several hundred extra queued up on Sunday afternoon at the ticket table, it was apparent that food reinforcements were necessary. A large assortment of cold cuts from the food store came to the rescue.

Members from every co-op in the Potomac area were there, as well as foreign visitors from Iraq, Indonesia, Iran, India, and Japan who are on special missions to the United States.

There were entertainments for every age group and every interest. Included were square-dancing, contests, recorded concert, community singing, and boat and pony rides for the children.

The barbecue was sponsored by

No GCS Quorum

Members of Greenbelt Consumers Service held their usual quorumless quarterly meeting in the Greenbelt theater last night. Too few attended to elect audit committee members and fill the board vacancy to which Frank Lewis was appointed recently.

Brief reports from the president and general manager preceded a forum on membership, with preliminary talks by Co-operator Editor Janice Solet and Takoma Park member Elizabeth Segal. The ninety people attending divided into four groups with a discussion leader and secretary for each, and spent the rest of the meeting conversing on ideas to stimulate interest and participation in the organization.

Distaff Riflers Cop National Gun Record

The fifth annual Harvest Rifle Championships of the Greenbelt Gun Club, held last week on the local range, were the most successful yet sponsored by the Club. Sixty-five registrations were received, some from points as far away as Camp Lejeune, N. C., and Pleasantville, N. J.

One of the highlights of the meet was the regaining of the Women's National Team Record by the local team, composed of Mildred Kern, Betty Lee, Virginia Robinson and Ruth Morgan. The Greenbelt women established a record of 1586 from a possible 1600 in August 1951, only to lose it a week later when a Portland, Oregon women's team wrapped up 1587. Last September, at the fourth annual meet, the local distaff side made an unsuccessful bid to regain the title but did win the team event, thus gaining custody of the Greenbelt Co-op trophy. Last Sunday they lost the trophy to the Wolves but won back their national record.

In winning the team match, the Wolves posted 1592, two points ahead of the Women. Eight teams were firing, including Western Maryland championship teams from Hagerstown and Cumberland.

Richard Ohler of Hagerstown was the top individual winner, with 1981 from a possible 2000 points. Local winners were third-place, Roy Oster of the University of Maryland, with 1978; fourth-place, Freeman Morgan, Jr., formerly of 2-A Ridge, with 1975. Sixteen-year-old Chris Buckingham of the local club won one of the nine individual events with a snappy score of 199 from 200, while another member, Ralph Robinson, also won an event with a perfect score of 200.

Local Rally to Hear Mahoney, Lankford

Voters of Greenbelt and the surrounding county will have the opportunity to see in person the Democratic Senatorial and Congressional candidates at a gigantic rally sponsored jointly by the Greenbelt Democratic Club and the Twenty-first District Democratic Club, on Sunday, October 5 at the American Legion Home in Greenbelt.

The Honorable George P. Mahoney, candidate for the office of United States Senator, and Honorable Richard E. Lankford, candidate for Representative for this Congressional district, are eager to present their viewpoints on the many important issues confronting the people of Maryland and the nation today.

Walter L. Green, president of the Stevenson-Sparkman Club of Prince Georges County, will speak in behalf of Governor Adlai Stevenson and Senator John J. Sparkman, who have telegraphed their regrets that, due to the planned itinerary of their speaking tours, they will be unable to attend the rally.

Officers and members of the Greenbelt Democratic Club extend a cordial invitation to everyone in Greenbelt to attend the rally. Every voter should make an effort to be at the Legion Home at 2 p.m. on Sunday, October 5.

GCS Directors Discuss Wages Capitalization

By David Reznikoff

At the last regular meeting of directors of Greenbelt Consumer Services, Inc., general manager Sam Ashelman clarified and discussed with the board points in his report, which only board members receive. Ashelman presented some ideas from a group named in the report on the subject of how to raise more capital with less expense, pointing out in answer to a question that "in order to pay out $44 dividends on capital stock we must have earned $100 before taxes." The board batted these ideas around for a while, and chose the executive committee which is chaired by Morris Solomon to act as a special financial committee, which will draft people with special aptitudes from the general membership; together they will survey the problem of "ways of getting needed capital more favorably."

Personnel and wage classification, according to Ashelman, was scheduled to be set up. An intensive study of wages and job classification by the board was tabled until further statistics and information could be assembled for them.

Ashelman spoke of a device to induce shoppers to buy co-op, which involves offering a prize to those householders who have co-op merchandise in their kitchens when called upon. A tryout of this method will be put into effect in Takoma Park first. Ashelman explained that the disembodied voice which has been surprising people in the bread department of the food store is an experiment in personalized selling. We can now look forward to a midway, and this reporter would not be too unhappy to see models selling mops in the near future. The hypnotic quality of the suggestive record has more than doubled co-op bread sales.

Mrs. Hildean is now working part-time on personnel problems.

GVHC Board Discusses Personnel Finance, Development Policies

By George C. Reeves

Until the Greenbelt Veterans Housing Corporation employs a manager, whose job is scheduled to begin December 1, 1952 with the transfer of most Greenbelt dwellings to it from the present landlord (Public Housing Administration), many problems of management have to be handled directly by the board of directors in addition to the numerous details of policy and finance with which it has to deal. The present staff of 5 persons, who are paid $1 an hour, has its hands full, administering the routine of applications, credit investigation, listings of units, and priorities.

The directors, meeting Tuesday evening at the GVHC office, adopted a statement on future employment policy. They resolved that all applications from present employees of GVHC and PHA will be given prior consideration. The matters of salary, leave, promotion policy, and housing for employees are under study.

The local PHA staff will be greatly reduced after January 1 when only the apartments and the commercial property will remain under their management. Some of the employees will prefer to transfer to other government jobs, but the board was hopeful that some could be persuaded to transfer to the pay roll of GVHC by reason of the advantage of being able to live and work in Greenbelt.

The board voted to have two grades of employees for the present and to pay the higher grade $1.50 per hour.

Rents to be 23% higher

The board also heard a report on conferences with the Office of Rent Stabilization which resulted in permission for a rent increase of 23 percent beginning in 1953. Permission to make adjustments between units instead of a flat increase are still being considered but may not be forthcoming. The new schedule of rents will be based on the full present maximum rental schedule without deductions based on income or size of family. The increase applies only to shelter and heat items, however.

A plan to keep purchasers' monthly payments down to the new level of rents to be paid by tenants during the first year of GVHC ownership was discussed but held over till the next meeting for decision. The plan would envisage no accumulation of equity during the first year by the purchasers but would ease the burden of the down payment. Amortization of principal would then begin January 1, 1954. Proponents added that it would simplify the book-keeping during the transitional period when many people would be living in other people's houses. An opponent of the plan said that he preferred to begin accumulating an equity as soon as possible and felt that his contract entitled him to do so. In reply, proponents said that members would have to be asked to accept certain modifications in their contracts anyway because of PHA requirements, and they might as well be asked to accept this further change as well, especially as it was deemed to be to their advantage.

Selling Campaign

About 700 dwelling units remain unsold, and 200 of these must be sold by December 1, it was stated. About 30 families have signed up since the group contract with PHA was announced. The total number of units sold to date is 859. A campaign to convince the hesitant of the advantages of home ownership was outlined. The idea of a "celebration and kick-off dinner" proposed by Thomas Ritchie was voted down as an unnecessary expense, but plans were made to employ a real estate broker beginning.

Drop-Inn Holds Open House Sunday

Members of the Advisory Board of the Youth Center, officers of the Drop-Inn, and Recreation Department personnel have set Sunday, October 12 as Open House Day from 4 to 6 at the Drop-Inn. Parents and friends are invited to attend.

Among the advantages of holding an open-house at this time is the opportunity to see the newly-decorated building, refurbished by the hard work of members and interested friends. The community will also meet the three new members of the Recreation Department who have been hired on a part-time basis to supervise Drop-Inn activities. Mrs. Ruth Birdseye, Mrs. Helen Frady and Mrs. Lorna Ott have been working there, in charge of the program, since the beginning of the season. They have all been active in community work in the past and were specially trained by the Recreation Department for their present work.

Members of the Drop-Inn working on the committee for the open-house are Patsy Arrington, Margaret Zoellner, Janet Lewis, Patty Giersch and Ellen Crofford.

JCC to Dedicate Sacred Scroll Sunday

The Jewish Community Center of Greenbelt announces the dedication of its first Sacred Scroll or "Torah" on Sunday evening, October 5, in the social room of the Greenbelt Center School.

Thus far the JCC has used a Torah placed at its disposal by another congregation but henceforth will have its own. The dedication of the Torah is considered a significant step in the growth of the independent center, which will eventually result in the dedication of the group's new building.

The Center invites members and non-members alike to participate in the Torah ceremony. Rabbi Waldman will speak, and there will be entertainment and refreshments.

Letters To The Editor

Testament

To whom it may concern:

This letter may never be read by anyone but I just had to write it. I thought maybe to put it down on paper would ease my mind.

This is a story of our family and what Greenbelt has done for us.

Before we moved out here November 25th, two years ago, ours was a very sad and mixed up family and had nothing but hard knocks since my husband was called to serve our country and while he had no oak leaf clusters, he was there to do whatever he was called on to do. It is no use to go into all a wife with two babies has to do while Daddy was away because we all had to do that.

We were able to buy us a little home in Jefferson Village in Falls Church, Va., and when my husband was taken ill, we had to give our house up and move in with my people. The sickness and loss of our house really hurt us deep and I guess I must have gotten a complex. I felt I was not as good as other people and crept into a shell so to speak.

A friend told us to put our name in Greenbelt, and nine months later we got our call, and we were so happy to have our own home again, and I do mean home, not house, because it has been a home to us. We live at 28-B Ridge Rd. across from the Medical Center, next to Mr. and Mrs. Sals—a fine family.

When we first moved out here, I was in such a state that I hated to walk past people—even be in their company and I was called to the center school to talk to Mrs. Fugitt and Mrs. Gerrits about my son, he was very unhappy and I think it was seeing me in the state I was in that made him that way.

I started going to the store once in a while, and I saw people I didn't know smile at me and before long I was smiling too, and then people began to talk to me and for the first time in years, I felt I was somewhere, that I belonged and I was happy.

Then our son Bobby Lovett seemed to sense the change and he was making friends, and when I say friends, I don't mean the kind that try to outdo each other, because out here we are all middle class people and are on the same level. (It is a wonderful town.) I can't say that enough; now my son is one of the most popular boys around. He is on the football team, baseball team, and in the Lutheran Choir and his little sister is so happy here as we all are, four of us in this family.

We wanted so much to buy our house, but last winter we had sickness and we could get our $125, but our down payment is $920 and we could not get that much together, because we are getting our debts paid from my husband's illness of a few years ago.

We were afraid to get a loan because, once you have trouble and have been back on your payments it is hard to get your credit rating on top again, but, for the first time in years we can see the silver lining, and it is a swell feeling, only I hate so to leave Greenbelt, because, it seems it has been like we really started living since we have been here.

To all you very lucky people who are able to buy, don't gripe about

BOY'S CLUB

Our drive will continue for the rest of this week and possibly next week in order to be able to cover every unit and see every one. However, we do wish to thank all you good people who have already so generously contributed. We feel that you will be well repaid in the activities supplied and the training given to the boys who apply. For those who have not yet contributed or been contacted, some

Greenbelt, Md., be proud to live in a place where people are rue, and no matter where you go can you find such a wonderful place to raise your children, where children are first, in every way of life.

I was upset when I saw in the paper where Greenbelt was sold (that I know is selfish, because I'm happy for all of you who are able to remain here. But when I know we only have 11 months to stay here, it really breaks my heart.)

I love my yard, and my big pines, and my lovely roses in the summer, the wisteria, in the spring, and most of all, Willie the Weeper, our lovely weeping willow tree.

I hope and pray that there will be a few places that some of us who will leave our hearts out here can reach. (I love old Greenbelt). We pay $75 a month here, and we have fixed our house up so nice and homey. Each child has a room and we feel content and happy here, I hope whoever gets our house will be as happy here, as we have been.

Isn't it a shame that when you are so content, that you will have to shut your children up in some hot apartment. After living in Greenbelt, I'm afraid we will never get it out of our hearts.

Our children are heartsick and we are, but I just had to tell you how wonderful Greenbelt and all our Greenbelt neighbors are. Good luck to all, and I hope there will be a nice end house in old Greenbelt that can be rented when Sept. 1st, 1953 comes.

Is there any hope for we who want to stay out here, but can't buy now? (I hope so.)

Yours truly,

Maude and Bob Lovett

Shirley Anne - 9 years old

Bobby Lovett - 12 years old

P.S. I forgot to mention the pool. It too has been a wonderful sport for our children. I think if there were more places like our Greenbelt you wouldn't hear of so much War, and children getting into trouble. Greenbelt is tops and I'm proud to live here.

(Editor's Note—Since receipt of this letter, GVHC directors have helped the Lovetts to solve their problem. They will stay in Greenbelt.)

Thanks

The Potomac Federation's barbecue last Sunday at the Greenbelt lake was a howling success from all accounts, and those who helped out with the serving deserve a round of applause for their contribution. To all the volunteers who pitched in so cheerfully, thanks a million—you helped a big crowd have a big time. Special thanks to Carnie Harper, who rounded up the food and did a swell job with it. We wouldn't have had the barbecue without Carnie. All of you who enjoyed yourselves, be sure and tell her so.

Local Red Feather Drive Starts Mon.

By Miriam Johnson

The October 6 opening date for the annual Community Chest Fund drive finds Greenbelt's chairman for her second year, Mrs. Abraham Chasanow, in charge of a well-organized city-wide group for red feather promotion. Greenbelt service's were helped by the sum of $8000 from this beneficial fund last year.

Mrs. James Flynn is assistant chairman. Team Captains include the following: Mrs. T. James Gordon, Jr., Mrs. Ralph Webster, Mrs. Harold Fischer, Miss Cyrilla O'Connor, Mrs. J. P. Murray, Mrs. J. W. Barcus, Mrs. R. Converse, Mrs. R. Haber, Mrs. V. Iseli, Mrs. J. Fitzmaurice, Mrs. M. Burns, Mrs. B. Bowman, Mrs. T. Callanan and Mrs. W. Haward Hunt. Each captain has several cooperative co-workers on her given "beat." Mrs. Jack Johnson has been named Publicity Chairman.

Contributors may specify to what organization or project their money should be allotted, and have the right to elect representatives to the National Capital Area Board, which controls the spending.

The Community Chest is a non-sectarian non-profit institution which makes possible the hospitalization, longterm care, temporary relief, proper housing, or normal child care of several hundred thousand citizens who have through sickness, misfortune, or family tragedy come to a point where they cannot help themselves. Contributors may at any time examine the "books," which are open to the public.

The Chest pays for family counseling, assistance to individuals, care of children, aid to youth and care of the aged.

Last year Greenbelt met its goal and Mrs. Chasanow states that with 100% participation this year, regardless of size of any individual's contribution, the local Community Chest drive will be a success.

Tonight, Thursday, a meeting of all workers is being held in the arts and crafts room of the Community Building at 8:30 p.m.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Branch announce the engagement of their daughter, Shirley Virginia, to Richard Roy Ingraham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Ingraham, Potsdam, N. Y. The wedding will take place November 1 in Greenbelt.

Roger Brown, 8-C Hillside, entered Providence Hospital in Washington on Thursday, September 25, for an operation on the left foot. He is doing very nicely but days and nights in a hospital can be very long for a little boy, so he would deeply appreciate a word, or better still a visit, from his Greenbelt friends.

Richard A. Palmer, son of Mrs. Lydalu Palmer, 2-B Eastway, was released from the Army last week after two years of service. Dick, as local folk know him, is off on a trip to New York with his mother before returning to his job with the New York Stock Exchange.

Associate Editor I. J. Parker and family, 45-J Ridge, are off to Chicago for two weeks' visit with his family. Former editor Harry Zubkoff and family, 17-H Ridge, are in Buffalo concluding a visit to Jeannette's folks.

Boy's Club Activities

By Lee

Here we are again after missing the column for two weeks due to a belated vacation. Nothing very important happened since my last writing but things are about due to break loose. All our football teams: 90lb block busters, 105lb hurricanes and the 150lb maulers (and possibly the newly established 128lb team) will break out with a rash of football this weekend. Ray Soo has not revealed the schedule as yet. It is due at weighing-in time this Thursday, but we feel sure that two of the games will be home games at Braden Field and positively one of them. You will have to find out from the boys when they are told Thursday evening. It's just the starting of the season and we are looking forward to come very good boys' football games here at Braden Field this fall, so don't forget to come down and watch the boys on Saturday and Sunday. Next week I hope to be able to print a complete schedule of games so you will know when they are at home.

Ben Goldfaden has the medals you fellows won in the County Boys Clubs meet last summer and if you will come down to the Center school at 10 a.m. Saturday morning he will give them out.

All you boys who have not turned in your uniform CLEAN, do so this Saturday morning at 10 a.m. at the Center school. Boys who left their uniforms at Donnie Wolfe's house, please let Ben Goldfaden know who you are so we can credit you with turning it in.

Waltonians Plan Junior Gun Club

Boys and girls with B-B guns will have a regular time and place to practice shooting with them, if plans of the Izaak Walton League materialize. A committee headed by Roy Davis has made arrangements with the police to form a club which will have a range in the basement of the police station.

A considerable number of B-B guns have been confiscated by the police because children were shooting them within Greenbelt and the surrounding woods, contrary to a city ordinance. The confiscated weapons will be available for the use of club members at the range.

Those interested in becoming members should leave their names and addresses at the police station, Mr. Davis said. When sufficient interest is shown, announcement will be made of the first meeting.

the Potomac Cooperative Federation, under the direction of Helmut Kern, with Jean Putnam in charge of the program and Eleanor Ritchie chairman of the food committee.

In view of the success of this first affair of its kind, the Potomac Cooperative Federation may well feel encouraged to contemplate other such events in the future.

ning November 1 to promote the sale of the remaining units. Sales made after that date through the mediation of the broker will carry an additional charge to cover his fee. Terms of the agreement to be made with a broker, when one is selected, were drafted in principle and handed to Abe Chasanow, counsel, for legal phrasing.

Chairman Michael Salzman suggested that certain units might have been overpriced, but the feeling that the schedule of offering prices should be adhered to intact prevailed. An exception may be made for the detached dwellings on Woodland Way if the appraiser, previously engaged by GVHC action, finds the present asking prices too high. These prices are higher than PHA's original appraisal and have been contested by the occupants and would-be purchasers.

The total selling price of all the units is about $40,000 more than GVHC will pay to PHA for the property as a whole. This margin will supply part of the needed working capital, it was said.

Land development
Those persons, whether present or prospective residents, who are interested in future development of part of the town's belt of forest land, will have an opportunity on October 15, at the social room of Center School, to meet Hale Walker, the engineer who laid out Greenbelt. He and others will explain the possibilities for expansion: what PHA has offered to GVHC; probable amount of down payment and carrying charges payable by individuals who want to build homes on the newly-opened tracts; and what plans are afoot for financing the deal. Arrangements for the affair are being made by Elliott Bukzin.

Robert Davenport reported that he had contacted four government agencies about locating their offices in Greenbelt, and had found one interested, namely the Office of Emergency Procurement of the General Services Administration. Receiving board approval as a facet of the general expansion program, he agreed to write a letter to the interested agency and pursue the matter further.

Little League

By Bill Moore

You'd have to say that the second annual Greenbelt Little League Baseball banquet was a whopping success. Some 220 young players, their parents and guests had an expansive evening last Wednesday.

Boy Scout Troop 202 did the honors for the supper so ably prepared by Stanley Edwards and his staff and served by the Scouts. Chuck Pettit, Athletic Department Manager at the Sport Center must have enjoyed all this. He returned to the scene as an honor guest, the first Scout Master of Troop 202. He founded the troop with eleven boys on December 24, 1937.

Toast-master Andy O'Connell did himself and the occasion proud.

Ex Big League infielder Billy Werber charmed the entire gathering with his talk on what went into the making of a big league player - a lively reminiscence on his early Berwyn days.

Mel Taylor and his winning College Park Legion lads were presented trophies for their success. Team Captain Donnie Estep gave the skipper a present on behalf of his team. Eli DonBullian presented Taylor a gift from team parents.

Runner-up Manager Bernie Emmert of Co-Op received a beautiful team trophy and Captain Davey Allen presented him a gift from the players.

Andy O'Connell presented home run slugger Freddie Slauch of Greenbelt Bowling Alleys a trophy for his feat of leading the league with six homers.

My Daze

A stalemate developed over who would get the car that day. My husband had to stay in town after work, and it was my turn to go down to assist at the nursery school. We cast about a long while for a way out of the dilemma, until I suddenly remembered my feet. "I'll walk", I cried, and after we looked sheepishly at one another, what might have been an argument ended right there.

The weatherman cooperated fully with the cooperators for the Potomac Cooperative Federation's picnic at Greenbelt Lake last Sunday. We shared an idyllic afternoon with the hundreds who attended from far and wide.

I was alarmed at the heartrending screams of the little girl next door until I discovered the cause of it all. Eddie, the Good Humor man, had arrived in the court and she couldn't find her mother.

Baby's balking at walking, but his fathers quite proud
To hear him say "daddy" so plain and so loud.

To add to his talents, baby claps and waves 'bye

(Thas is, if you catch him when he's not being shy.)

O'er protests, the barber sheared off every curl;

Now mother won't have to deny he's a girl.

At one time we lived in a community of newlyweds and new parents who referred constantly to Drs. Spock and Gesell's books about children. Some of my friends there were conscientious to the point of keeping charts of their baby's activities down to the last burp, sneeze and hiccup. I felt guilty about it, but never got around to doing the same as the other ladies, as I was much too busy taking care of the baby.

-DAISY.
